

EFOWYN'S EMPORIUM

The Emporium is out of the main market, in a wealthier district of town and is not frequented by the average commoner. The Emporium is part of the Sisters Lode Trading Company and is run by the youngest of the Loderr sisters, Efowyn (LG halfling female).

Two more sisters make up the Company. Gunnloda (NG human female), the middle sister, is a travelling merchant and scholar who might be met on the road or in another market place. The third, and eldest sister, Jotmohulda (CG female human) is also a travelling merchant, but prefers the open frontier to the closeness of a city and is rarely seen in town. The sisters have an almost identical stat block, found overleaf.

All three sisters have access to a shared magical cupboard, created by the mother, Tally, the famous mage. This cupboard rests upon the Ethereal Plane and can be summoned by any of the sisters as an action. The sisters used this cupboard to pass messages and fulfill orders of magical items from the Emporium to those sisters who are travelling.

RARE MAGIC ITEMS

Finally, the sisters have two rare magical items. These items are kept in a glass cabinet with a permanent alarm and symbol spells cast upon it. If anyone but one of the sisters even touches the case it will set off a silent alarm in Efowyn's mind. The symbol spell (Death effect, DC 18 save).

Within the case are two items: a small statue of an owl made of a green crystal (a figurine of wondrous power serpentine owl) and a stout-looking belt with a helmeted head on the buckle (a belt of dwarvenkind). Both of these items sell for 6,000 gp each. Anti-theft magic The shop is infused with magic to stop anyone or anything from stealing the goods. The entire magical shop is under the effect of a permanent alarm spell and the downstairs of the shop is subject to a permanent guards and wards spell (Stinking Cloud effect), both activated if a creature takes any item without paying.

THE SISTERS LODERR

These three intriguing and incredibly talented woman are not, in fact, sisters by blood. Instead they were all trained from childhood by the legendary magi, Theodora Liadon, about whom much and little is truly known. The girls, found as orphans, were raised and trained together until adulthood when their mother insisted they strike out on their own.

Since that time, however, and despite their best efforts to find her, none of the sisters have seen their mother. Since then, the sisters took the dwarven spelling of their surname and started the Sisters Loderr Trading Company.
